The Hurtable

can't be assuaged.
Thought-out speech

or tossed remark
cuts them the same.

(A wound to suck
and spew the pus.)

No statute of limitations.
No remedy, but some relief:
introducing to another hurtable.